Cranberry Thoughts

Since next week's issue, even though we hope to come out a day early, will not reach many of our readers until Friday of that week, perhaps it is appropriate that we remind all of you of the reason for next Thursday's holiday, Thanksgiving.

First celebrated by the Pilgrim colony in 1623 in thanks to the Almighty for a good harvest after a grim winter of privation and suffering, it became a national holiday on Nov. 26, 1789, by proclamation of President George Washington. Revived in 1864, it has generally been observed on the fourth Thursday in November (President Franklin D. Roosevelt in the late 30's caused some disagreement).

Almost all of us have more to be thankful for than we acknowledge. Sometimes the thanks may properly go directly to some individual or organization or business, but indirectly they are all the result of some Supreme Being's dictation. While cranberry growers and processors may legitimately be angry and non thankful where Secretary Arthur Flemming of the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare is concerned, even they should remember that without the turkey and tradition, even with Secretary Flemming's help, they would sell less cranberries.

Thanksgiving should be a day of family gatherings with thanks to their Maker, not just a football holiday. A bountiful and thankful Thanksgiving holiday to our readers.

Good Luck, Tigers

Tomorrow night, Friday, the Bay High School Tigers play Long Beach for the football championship of the newly formed Gulf Coast Conference. On Oct. 9, in a rough game, the Tigers out-statisiced Long Beach but lost 7-0.

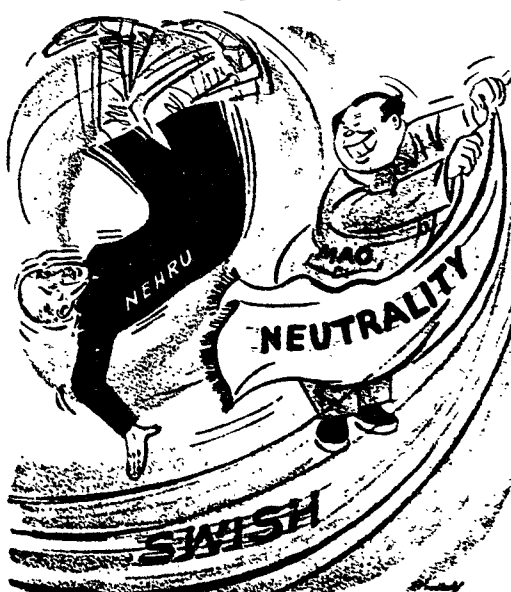

Irrespective of the outcome tomorrow night the Tigers will have had a successful season, and the team and its coach, Lance Lumpkin, are due for congratulations. Nevertheless we hope for better, and believe the Tigers will win tomorrow night.

A good crowd of Bay High supporters looking on might help their team in its first play-off for a conference crown.

Seems strange for a local automobile dealer to be without transportation, except foot, for himself. Sold all his cars and because of steel strike hasn't been able to get any more new ones.

Bay High may have a championship football team, but their marching in last week's parade was not championship. The school showed up badly in comparison with most of the other schools in the parade.

County Agent Notes....

By Howard Simmons

GRAZE OUT FIELDS

Add to your livestock profits in Hancock County. Don't waste good feed. Nearly all farmers have corn or other grain left in the field following harvest. Take advantage of this good feed by grazing out fields following harvest.

Research has shown that from three to 20 per cent of the corn is left in fields after harvest. You can recover at least half of this waste by turning in livestock as soon as the field is harvested. But don't leave livestock on a field after it has been grazed out unless you can supply them with extra feed.

As soon as fields are grazed out, remove the livestock and shred the corn stalks. This will help prevent erosion, cause stalks to rot faster and destroy a place for winter hibernation of insects.

HOME GARDENS

Here are some suggestions for you home gardeners in December. Build a hotbed for January and February planting. Clean and store your tools, wire and stakes.

Make plans now for any changes in your garden program for 1960 such as new plot, drainage, larger or smaller area. Pen your leaves for mulch and compost. Collect, label and store all good leftover seed. Make up a few rows for "early-bird" planting. Then make up your seed list for 1960.

SOCIAL SECURITY

You may not want to retire as soon as you reach 65 years of age. But when you do retire, you will want to get your social security payments started promptly. And the matter of your receiving your first check on time rests largely with you.

Contact the people at the social security office, either by telephone or in person a couple of months before you retire. Find out what papers you may need to prove your age. Get everything in order in good time. This way there should be no delay in the mailing of your first check.

On Youths in Lumber Jobs

Lumbermen are reminded by Regional Director Sterling B. Williams of the U. S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour Division that federal law prohibits the employment of minors under 18 in most logging and sawmilling jobs.

"Under the Fair Labor Standards Act," Williams said, "the Secretary of Labor issues hazardous occupations orders which declare certain jobs too dangerous for the young teen-ager; one such order in logging and sawmilling includes almost all jobs."

Williams noted that many other related jobs have also been declared hazardous. They include the operation of power-driven wood-working machines and off-bearing from circular saws; driving a motor vehicle or working as a driver's helper; and operating power-driven hoisting apparatus such as elevators, cranes and derricks.

"To protect himself from unintentional violation of the Act's child-labor requirements," Williams said, "the employer should require an age certificate from every young person hired. This certificate, obtained from local school officials, shows that the young worker is at least the lawful age for his job."

For further information about the child-labor requirements of the Act, Williams urged employers to contact the nearest office of the Labor Department's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions.

TURKEYS MAY NET FARMERS HIGHER PRICES

According to a report of the State Extension Service 25 years ago this month, "the outlook is for higher prices for the 1934 turkey crop...partly because of a smaller crop and partly due to prospective reduced supplies of other poultry and the higher price level of meats and other food of meats generally." Since turkeys are generally sold in the poultry industry then the turkey industry has grown to be one of the most important in Mississippi.

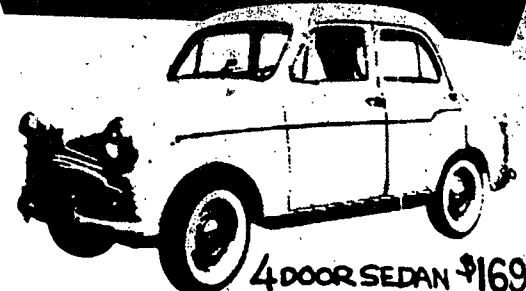

The legally regulated beer industry is an important part of Mississippi's economy. Employing over 36,000, the state's nearly 3,000 retailers and 57 wholesalers have an investment of over $28 million in trucks, buildings, and other equipment.

The legal beer industry is a big market for a wide variety of farm products. Last year, Mississippi taxes on beer, the beverage of moderation, totaled about $4 million; nearly one-fourth the sum needed to obtain Home-Steak Exemption and important funds for Old Age pensions, school and rural road programs, as well as other government functions.

3 Bay Men Get Many Enter Mexico Forestry Posts Vacation Contest

Three Bay St. Louis men were elected directors of the Mississippi Forestry Association at its 21st annual meeting in Jackson this week. ### To Fete Minister

The congregation of First Presbyterian Church will entertain with a tea from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. honoring their new minister, the Rev. E. A. Lindsey, and Mrs. Lindsey. The public is invited to meet the couple at this time.

Supervisors...

(Cont. from Page 1.) R. G. Hubbard Jr., Beat 5 supervisor, commented that if the health center site originally selected by the supervisors between the new hospital and the county home had been used, a blacktopped road costing approximately $1,000 would have been required.

An inter-fund loan of $10,000 to the County School Board for operating expenses through December was approved after a request from Superintendent of Education E. E. Breland.

Breland, accompanied by Board Chairman Mrs. C. C. McDonald sr., explained that the loan would be repaid when the board receives tax settlements in February and March.

The supervisors decided to investigate required repairs on the Cummings engine and torque converter of the county's T500 Gallon grader. Hubbard explained that the $22,000 machine purchased approximately two years ago had been defective during the first year of operation and had been repaired then. He added that the normal life of the machine was four years.

The supervisors approved a $25 contract with C. W. Miller, tree surgeon, to cut and remove a sycamore on the southeast side of the Courthouse which had grown over a water main. Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr. had requested removal of the tree at an earlier meeting.

The board also agreed to investigate additional payment to election managers who served overtime in the first primary after Duane Bourgeois, Waveland precinct manager, complained that the managers had received only one day's pay. Bourgeois said he labored over 70 hours during the first primary.

Bourgeois requested that signs be placed at both ends of Beach Boulevard to avoid possible accidents. He said that signs had been erected two years ago and had been stolen since then.

But the pharmaceutical scientist has now duplicated, or improved upon, these natural products in his laboratory.

help keep MISSISSIPPI PRICES DOWN

Like the ads of local merchants that you see in this newspaper, S&H Green Stamps boost business. At the same time they help keep prices down.

Here is why: When a store sells more, it can sell for less, since bigger volume brings lower costs.

Stores that use S&H Green Stamps must sell competitively. Mississippi housewives are expert shoppers. They read the ads. They check and compare prices. And they can't be fooled! Trading stamps are being saved today by two out of three American families — about 35 million in all. And their use is still growing in this and other States.

The Sperry and Hutchinson Company—America's oldest and largest trading stamp Company — would like to tell you more about how trading stamps help you and your community. Write for our booklet: "How S&H Green Stamps and the Trading Stamp Industry Help Mississippi."

As Southern as Grit

No institution is more deeply rooted in the South than our Company. Since our founding 73 years ago, we have concentrated on serving the South, and only the South, with dependable petroleum and allied products.

Our officers, directors and all members of our organization are Southerners. Two-thirds of the Company's dividends are paid to more than 14,000 of its stockholders living in the five Southern states we serve. Our profits are reinvested where we make them—in the South.

We like to believe that the continued leadership of our products is due to two things: 1) their dependable quality; and 2) the fact that we are Southerners who think Southern and inherently observe Southern customs and courtesies which Southerners appreciate. gation will be made shortly. King sustained arm and facial injuries. Both autos were declared total losses.

Ellis was given emergency treatment at Hancock County Hospital before being transferred to Gulfport Memorial Hospital. Another mishap occurred on U. S. 90, 12 miles west of the Bay limits, about 4:30 p.m. Monday when the left rear wheel of a 1955 model one and a half ton truck came off and caused the vehicle to sideswipe an automobile traveling in the opposite direction.

Parolman William Kenny said crates of fruits and vegetables loaded on the truck driven by Alexander J. Roaux of New Orleans littered the highway after the wreck. He estimated damage to the truck at $700. A 1957 model four-door sedan, driven west by Helen H. Cole of Metairie, La., was damaged to the extent of $400, Kenny said.

GUEST SPEAKER —
John Wise of Hazlehurst tells Chamber of Commerce members at a banquet Tuesday night in the Yacht Club how his town acquired five new industries.

Officials Answer...

formally answering Dr. McFarland's letter inasmuch as his letter did not request an answer and the Council had already acted favorably on his request for a tax reduction.

"The Commission Council... has supported the establishment of this rest home and feels that it is a very definite asset to the community. We will continue to lend every assistance we can to insure the successful operation of this or any other type of venture which will contribute to the development and progress of our community."

A. C. Mitchell, clerk of the Board of Supervisors, said Thursday that Dr. McFarland had been invited to appear before the board Monday. He said a reduction had been made in the assessment of the property shortly before being acquired by the Gulfview interests and that District 5 Supervisor R. G. Hubbard was ill and absent from the meeting following receipt of the letter early in the year and did not see the letter.

Hundreds of similar letters are received each year, Mitchell said, and the public is notified by publication, as required by law after the July meeting, that the assessment rolls are open for inspection and they have until the first Monday of August to file any objections. After the rolls have been accepted, complaints should be filed by executing a form available in the tax assessor's office.

A Symbol Of Experience

How often have you noticed employees of Mississippi Power Company wearing this Loyal Service emblem? Frequently, no doubt, because over 74% of our employees have more than five years' service and have been awarded these emblems for loyal and continuous service.

Since its beginning, Mississippi Power Company has endeavored to provide dependable electric service to every customer. We are confident that we have achieved that goal although we continue to strive for further improvements. And, we recognize that generating plants, transmission lines and all of the allied electrical equipment necessary to provide electric power would be of little value without an organization of highly trained men and women... a team working together and dedicated to the principle of serving you courteously, efficiently, and economically.

This year 88 employees will be awarded new service award emblems ranging from five to forty years. Throughout our Company the active employees' records of service are as follows:

35 to 40 years	13
30 to 34 years	52
25 to 29 years	13
20 to 24 years	41
15 to 19 years	54
10 to 14 years	168
5 to 9 years	179

The skills of these men and women and their combined experience along with the skills of others more recently employed assure you of dependable electric service day and night.

Mississippi Power Company is proud of its employees—proud of their devotion to duty. They are, without a doubt, the Company's greatest asset.

"You need contacts. Luck is important but the more contacts, the more chances you have. Everybody has to be a salesman. You have to get up at 2 in the morning if necessary to find a room for a prospective business leader. And if his wife is along, the ladies must help. Don't let her sit in a hotel room all day but take her around and show her what a wonderful place your town is to live in. You may waste your time 99 per cent of the time but the other one per cent may bring an industry. You should even get the service station attendants to believe in and sell your town."
A. G. Dantagnan spoke on the importance of an industrial survey. "Hancock County without an industrial survey doesn't have a chance", he said. "When an industry is trying to locate they either go to the A, and I, board or whatever facility has the transportation in the area."
"In the case of Bay St. Louis, the L, and N, has an industrial department that distributes a brochure showing what each county or city has to offer in schools, utilities, climate, labor, etc. A brochure of this county has never been made but with the help of the members of the industrial board plus money put up by the county, this survey is being completed and should be in the hands of the A, and I, board and the L, and N, by Jan. 1."
"Our labor survey has been completed and computed by the Mississippi Employment Service in Jackson. It gave more than 800 names of people who are either unemployed or working elsewhere but are willing to come back to the county."
The Rev. Charles R. Johnson reported on traffic conditions, pointing out that two signals had been installed on U. S. 90 as requested.
Dr. Wesley McFarland made a follow-up report on Gulfview Haven pointing out that in six months $39,600 had been spent in the county and the F. H. A. had been contacted regarding an expansion program. He closed his report saying that he had written the board of supervisors and commission council asking to talk about taxes but that neither had shown him the courtesy of an answer. Mayor John A. Scafide said council had considered the matter and had voted for a substantial reduction. Dr. McFarland replied that he had not asked for a reduction in his letter but had asked to talk about it and had never received an answer.

Go forth, young man

... we can't use you here

Is this the word to our young people — able and beloved — when they've finished school and are ready to start making their own living?

Too often it is, in the smaller communities like ours.

Why don't we have more job opportunities and more business opportunities right here, so that more of our sons and daughters can establish their homes and be happy and prosperous here at home?

It's partly circumstance. Partly the natural limitations of the economy of our area. Partly because we haven't been quite aggressive or enterprising enough to build and grow more.

But it's also partly because many of us have let ourselves get into the habit of spending too much of our money somewhere else.

Every dollar that we spend away from home is a dollar less to circulate among us and to account for 2 or 3 or more dollars of added trade volume as it moves from hand to hand.

Keeping more of this easily available trade volume at home is one way by which we could create and sustain more local opportunities for our young people. And for ourselves.

Home Agent Notes

By GLORIA MAULDIN

REFRIGERATOR ROOM

My refrigerator is so crowded I can't get another thing in it. How many times have you heard that said. . . or said it yourself?

One reason might be that you are giving space to bottles of oils and cartons or cans of shortening that could just as well be on the cupboard shelf.

Butter, some margarine and some lards belong in the refrigerator. But read the labels. Some lards have been given a special treatment - the same as that given to vegetable fats - and will keep nicely out of the refrigerator.

Most vegetable shortenings and oils will keep indefinitely on the cupboard shelf. If you put oils in the refrigerator, they may get cloudy and separate. This doesn't hurt their quality, but you do need to let the oil get back to room temperature before you use it.

Wherever you store fats and oils, keep them covered. They easily pickup flavors and odors from foods near them. Covered and dark are two key words to fat storage, for light hurries fats into getting stale.

TREES FOR YOUR LAWN
Prepare the soil and dig the hole before you get the tree. If you're going to mulch around the tree after planting, set it in the hole so it will be the same depth when you fill in the soil as it grew in the nursery or field or woods.

If you don't mulch, set the tree an inch deeper than it was growing.

Spread the roots in the hole as naturally as possible and scatter fine top soil in among them. Make sure there are no air spaces around the roots. Flood water into the hole. Tamp the soil around the roots of large trees with a two-by-four.

If your tree is in a ball of soil and burlap, put it in the hole without removing the burlap. When you get it the right depth, unfasten the burlap and tuck it in the bottom of the hole.

Marriage Licenses

Three applications for marriage licenses of local interest were issued this week by the office of Clerk of Courts.

They were Joseph Marion Hill, and Geraldine Schoonmaker, both of Bay St. Louis; Joseph Emile Kern and Janelle Martha Mitchell, both of Bay St. Louis; and Herbert P. Martello, Waveland, and Earlean Revere, New Orleans.

Miss Judy Jones Feted at Shower

Mrs. Edward Fayard Sr. of Waveland and Mrs. W. E. Warren of New Orleans honored their niece, Miss Judy Jones at a surprise bridal shower at the Warren home Sunday.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of white gladioli and mums. Refreshments of petit fours iced in white, sandwiches, and punch were served the many guests.

A corsage made of miniature kitchen utensils was presented the honor guest. Each guest received a miniature kitchen utensil as a favor.

Shoulda Gone Fishin'

BY EDDIE ENGELHORN

Fishing was good last week but the weekenders were disappointed again. Heavy rains Saturday and a gloomy Sunday discouraged even the most ardent anglers and sports talk turned to the opening of the duck season. Icy north winds Tuesday with clear, warming weather Wednesday indicated good river trolling and casting in the deeper spots.

The duck season opens tomorrow at noon and according to the Mississippi Wildlife Federation, each year a number of hunters are carried from the woods and fields on stretchers or the back of companions. Surprisingly, only a moderate percentage are gunshot victims, most casualties being the result of accidents or afflictions and sportsmen are advised to use caution.

A wild geese and rabbit supper is scheduled for 7:45 p.m. Monday at the KC home by the Gun and Rod Club, according to Don-

Savannah Kennels Take Four Awards

The Savannah Kennels of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Mayfield of Waveland topped four awards in the Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas field trials at the Rudd plantation in Waskom, Tex., last weekend.

Their entries took second and third places in the puppy stakes, third in shooting and second in the derby.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayfield flew to Shreveport, La., to attend the events.

ald Dorn, chairman of the rabbit committee. A good supply of hucious vinals have been supplied by expert hunters Donald and his dad, Alphonse Dorn, Bert Ladner and Kenny Siedel who have been using their spare time stalking the woods and swamps to make the supper possible. President Bert Siedel invites all prospective members to attend. The only admission is payment of $2 yearly dues which includes all banquets.

Brewster Mollere caught a heap of mullet off a pier in Waveland Monday. He and Gerald Price were reported seen fishing in Bayou Caddy Wednesday but we haven't learned what they caught. "Uncle" John Green exhibited a basket of speckled trout and flounders caught trolling along the highway bridge Friday afternoon using a Sonar. The trout weighed between two and three pounds each.

The brilliant play of halfback Tony Dalmado Jr. sparked the St. Aloysius eleven Friday night against St. Stanislaus and we had a pleasant reunion with his dad, one of New Orleans' top musicians and a friend for many years. Reminiscing our days in the "wild" music business brought back one occasion in the pit of the old St. Charles Theater when a member of the band attempted to throw a boiled crab on the piano keyboard but missed and it landed in the lap of a lady in the front row who promptly gave forth with a blood-curling scream during a very tense moment on the stage. Shame, Tony.

Former Rock-A-Chaw Grid Great Makes Hall of Fame

Former days of football glory at St. Stanislaus were recalled to many by a recent AP dispatch reporting that Felix A. Blanchard, known to the pigskin populace as "Doc", was inducted into the football Hall of Fame on the Rutgers University campus, the scene of the first intercollegiate football game in 1869.

One of the most famous All Americans of all time, Blanchard reached immortal heights in gridiron history as fullback for the Army Cadets in the Army-Navy game of 1944. Newspapers throughout the country and particularly in the metropolitan area of New York City were lavish in their praise.

It was the football classic of the year and Blanchard literally blasted the Navy team to pieces by his terrific line smashes and speedy end runs. His coach was quoted as saying that even as a ball carrier he was the greatest blocker in the world. "Anyone who could pierce that Navy line as he did that December 2nd afternoon must have been shipwrecked," says the Dec. 22, 1944, Echo.

Doc entered St. Stanislaus in September, 1938, and was graduated in June, 1942. The record shows his home as Bishopville, S. C. During that time he led the Rock-A-Chaws to the Gulf Coast championship and an invitation to the New Orleans Toy Bowl, the equivalent of an interstate championship affair between Louisiana and Mississippi's outstanding teams. Although Stanislaus did not win that game, Blanchard covered himself with glory by his remarkable play.

Blanchard learned the rudiments of football during his four years at St. Stanislaus. The coach at the time was Pete Burge, a graduate of LSU.

ST. JOSEPH BASKETBALL VARSITY - Coached by Mrs. Joseph Colson and Sister Jean, the St. Joseph Academy Gold Jays have won the first two games of their season's schedule. Team members are from left, first row, Yvonne Artigues, Elizabeth Krieger, Captain Frances Matherne, and Cassie Rhodes; second row, Sheila Gottschalk, Margo Jacobi, Mary Dudley Roger, and Mary Jo Krieger; third row, Manager Renee Reynolds, Janice Noto, Sheila Sturdivant, Judy Favre, and Manager Sue Breath.

A national furor over contaminated cranberries has extended even to Hancock County since Mrs. J. R. Foegele of Clermont Harbor is co-owner of a 4-acre cranberry bog in Wisconsin.

"Our berries are not condemned," says Mrs. Foegele.

Afternoon Circle Continues Study

The third series on the United Nations study was led by Mrs. T. T. Robin when the afternoon circle of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of Main Street Methodist Church met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Alice Buckley presiding. Mrs. Robin described the Room of Stillness.

Mrs. S. Paul Kimbrell, who visited the UN, gave a quiz and interesting talk on the Trustee Council, presenting each member with a souvenir UN pin. Mrs. C. C. McDonald Jr. summarized the Universal Doctrine of Human Rights.

Refreshments were served afterwards by Mrs. Buckley and the co-hostesses, Mrs. W. W. James and Mrs. O. Schupp.

"but we have been hurt tremendously by the publicity about contaminated berries found in a small area in Washington."

Cranberries from that area would never be sold here," she commented. "The freight would be too much."

Fear use of aminotriazole, a weed killer alleged to produce cancer in rats, has created a national hysteria about all cranberries, traditional fruit of the approaching Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

"Growers in the Wisconsin and New Jersey sections don't have the same type of weeds found in Washington and aminotriazole is not used there," Mrs. Foegele said.

Mrs. Foegele and her brother, Harold DeLong, own the DeLong and Dano Cranberry Bogs at Mather. "There's quite a difference of opinion about whether it's bogs or marshes," she laughed. "In Cape Cod they say bogs and in other sections it's marshes."

The farm is managed by DeLong, and season shipments usually range from 17 to 25 hundred barrels of cranberries a season.

"The plants are sprayed with airplanes and after harvest the fields are flooded with water for 20 hours before the berries are raked out. Then they are washed again before processing."

"When I was up there last year, the first thing I saw was a big truck getting ready to take a load of berries to New Orleans. I talked to my brother Tuesday night and he said the temperature was five degrees above zero. I'm glad I'm down here now," she laughed.
